Drapery and Wall Paper Sale Is Now In Progress

Our January Drapery and Wall Paper Sale is now in progress. Our stocks have been carefully gone over, and marked at pre-inventory prices. Now that spring is approaching, this sale comes at a timely moment. It means an opportunity to purchase draperies and wall coverings at prices which will not soon recur. Our customers have the added advantage of being able to purchase wall paper on the same floor as the draperies, thus obtaining a better selection.

BLUFF ON FIELD OF HONOR

One of the Many Good Stories Henry Labouchere Could Tell of the Days of His Youth.

A duel is always absurd, even when it is tragic; but it is rare indeed for one of the combatants to be troubled by its absurdity. Such, however, was the case with the famous English radical, Henry Labouchere, who once fought a duel during his early diplomatic career, while he was attached to the embassy in Stockholm.

"There was a want of logic about the entire proceeding that went to my heart," he confessed, later. "To be killed is bad enough, but to be killed paradoxically is worse. I never felt more dismal in my life."

Paradoxical the combat certainly was, since Labouchere had been the challenger, his ground of offense being that his antagonist, an Austrian officer, had presumed to criticize the British minister for having given social countenance to a fellow Briton who, disapproving of duels, had recently declined a challenge from a conscientious scoundrel. The young diplomat, asserting with spirit that his chief had behaved properly, and that Englishmen were not so silly as to fight duels, had left the rest to his seconds—and found himself pledged to fight the next morning, with pistols, at seven o'clock. He had hoped for an apology, and admits he was dismayed; but he did not allow his feelings to be divided, and duly made his appearance upon the field of honor.

"The Austrian stood apart; I stood apart. The surgeon already eyed me as a 'subject.' The seconds consulted; then the Frenchman stepped out 12 paces. He had very short legs, and they seemed to me shorter than ever. After this came the loading of the pistols. Sometimes, I thought, seconds do not put in the bullets; that comforted me, but only for a moment, for the bullets were rammed down with cheerful energy. By this time we had been placed facing each other. A pistol was given to each of us. 'I am to give the signal,' said the Prussian. 'I shall count one, two, three, and then at the word fire, you will both fire. Gentlemen, are you ready?' We both nodded. 'One, two, three, fire!' and both our pistols went off. No harm had been done."

Labouchere thought it was all over, when his opponent, stepping up, remarked that he supposed he ought to allow him a second shot, but should nothing come of it, he would not consent to a third. Reluctantly a second shot was fired; and they both missed. If indeed either had aimed—again. Then Labouchere boldly demanded a third shot.

"The seconds consulted together; for a moment I feared they were going to grant my request, and I was greatly relieved when they informed me they considered that two shots were amply sufficient. I was delighted, but I pretended to be most unhappy, and kept up the farce of being an aggrieved person."

The whole affair was certainly farcical; but the fun depended upon the leading actors being both very bad marksmen.—Youth's Companion.

Philippine Play Baseball.
Baseball is now played in every part of the Philippine archipelago, and the number of persons actually engaged in it is remarkably high. Practically every school in the islands has a team and some more than one. Thirty or more provinces have their provincial leagues among the schools, and these are supplemented by inter-provincial leagues. In Manila, where the chief offices of the government are located, there is an interurban league running scheduled games throughout the season; an industrial league composed of teams from the employees of the various large industrial companies of the city, and the Manila Baseball league, a professional organization.

GOV. CHARLES S. WHITMAN

Will Speak at the Mahoning Valley McKinley Club Banquet in Youngstown.

Congressman John G. Cooper, president of the Mahoning Valley McKinley Club, has been advised by Gov. C. S. Whitman of New York that he has accepted the invitation to speak at the second annual banquet of the club at the Ohio Hotel in Youngstown Monday evening, Jan. 21. Other speakers in addition to Gov. Whitman will be Gov. Willis of Ohio, Congressman Campbell of Kansas, and Hon. J. J. Sullivan of Cleveland.

Gov. Whitman spent his boyhood days in Canfield and numerous old friends and acquaintances here expect to attend the banquet. The Governor has written Dr. D. Campbell that he is looking forward with pleasure to "the reunion of old Canfield friends."

Card of Thanks.
We desire to return heartfelt thanks to friends and neighbors for the many kindnesses shown after the death of our husband and father, Curtis Swank. May the Lord bless you all.
Mrs. Swank and Children.

PIETY AND PROSPERITY.

One Helps Not Hinders Others, Says the Rev. H. A. Hanson.

"Can a Man Be Successful in Business and Be a True Christian?" was the subject of the Rev. Henry W. A. Hanson's sermon at St. Luke's Lutheran church, Allegheny. He said a strange misconception was prevalent regarding the relation between piety and prosperity. Not all was success that seemed such, as not all was failure that seemed failure. He instanced Nebuchadnezzar at the height of his power, still far from the heights to which he might have obtained and, on the other hand, Moses dying in sight of the promised land; the prophets tolling and pleading, only to die with all their dreams unrealized; Christ moving among the sons of men in all the beauty of a sinless glory only to die upon the cross. The true measure of success, depended not upon what we had, but upon what we were.

To be a Christian in life meant to bring down the noble impulses and principles revealed to us in the life and teaching of Christ into our daily thought and duties. Continuing the preacher said:

Any man who is engaged in a business directly or indirectly into which he cannot infuse these exalted ideals had better leave it. If your business unmans you, leave it—for what doth it profit a man if he gain the whole world and yet lose his self-respect and his soul?

It is possible to bring these ideals into our business life and achieve success? Even in the eyes of the world, honesty, manliness and Christian virtue are possessions recognized and admired. There has never been an age when sincerely and high Christian honor have had greater opportunity awaiting them. No matter what be your walk in life, to make the best man that you can be to all that God intended you should be, you must take religion into every phase of your work.

It is estimated that the annual loss in agriculture in this country from the depredations of insects and rodents alone is $1,000,000,000—about $1 a month for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Mae—It is dangerous to marry a man for his money.
Dolly—It is indeed, dear. Half those fellows really haven't got it.

CONFUSING.

Long—There goes Miss Fadda. She has taken to raising silk worms on quite a large scale.
Short (near sighted)—What is that on the ground beside her? Is she exercising one of the silk worms?

CHIEF ESSENTIAL.

Miss Smeyethe—Your nephew says that he has long wished to marry but cannot find his ideal.
Uncle Gruffy—His ideal, I reckon, is a girl who would have him.

AFLOAT ON THE SEA.

"Who is that husky individual that we just passed?
Oh, just one of the floating population."
"I should think there'd be a place in the navy for a man like that."

A RUDE.

Sandy Pikes—Yer a lucky dog all right. How do yer manage to get all that pie, anyway?
Billy Likes—Why I goes up an' asks them fer soap. Dat dazes 'em so dat I jes' walks up an' helps myself to everything before dey recover.

MISS NOTHING.

Redd—The Sarnia (Ontario) Canadian says that "Thomas Collins of the first concession of Biddulph township, who is ninety-nine and one-half years old, has just commenced taking music lessons."

Greene—I hope some one will call Thomas' attention to the tango.

Soaked.
Freshman—Why don't they wear watches with full dress?
Dormite—No one could get them both at once.

TWO GOLDEN DAYS

There are two days of the week upon which and about which I never worry, two care-free days kept sacred by free from fear and apprehension.

One of those is Yesterday. Yesterday with all its cares and frots, with all its pains and aches, all its faults, its mistakes and blunders, has passed beyond the reach of my recall. I cannot unsay a word that I said on yesterday. All that it holds of life, of regret and sorrow, is in the hand of the Mighty Love that can bring sweet waters out of the bitterest desert—the love that can make the wrong things right, than can turn weeping into laughter, that can give beauty for ashes, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness, joy of the morning for the we of night.

Save for the beautiful memories that linger, sweet and tender like the perfume of roses, in the heart of the day that is gone, I have nothing to do with yesterday.

And the other day I do not worry about is Tomorrow. Tomorrow with all its possible adversities, its perils, its large promises and poor performance, its failures and mistakes, is as far beyond a mask of weeping clouds. But it will rise. Until then the same love and patience that held yesterday and holds tomorrow, shines with tender promise into the heart of today. I have no possession in that unborn day of grace. All else is in the infinite keeping of that Infinite Love that holds for me the treasure of yesterday, the love that is higher than the stars, wider than the sky, deeper than the sea.

There is left for myself, then, one day of the week—to-day. Any man can fight the battles of today. Any woman can carry the burdens of just one day.—Robert J. Burdette.

RHEUMATISM

Mothers! Your cares in comforting the aches and pains of the family from youth to old age, are lessened when you use this old and trust-worthy remedy—

Sloan's Liniment

Bruises—Rheumatism—Neuralgia

Mothers: "Keep a bottle in your home"

Price 25c, 50c, and $1.00

Lemon Cup Cake.

One-half cupful butter, one cupful sugar, one cupful rind and juice of one lemon, four eggs, one and one-half cups of pastry flour, one teaspoonful salt, one-fourth cupful soda.

Cream the butter and sugar, add the lemon juice and grated rind and the yolk of the eggs. Sift together the salt, flour and soda. Add this mixture to the other and when thoroughly mixed fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in small tins.

Left-Over Meat Scraps.

One cupful cold, chopped lean beef or boiled chicken. Either will do, but chicken is nicer; then add one cupful of boiled rice, salt to taste, one tablespoonful melted butter. Fry to a nice brown in salt pork after making into small cakes.

Only Comforter.

Some time ago a young woman called at the home of a married friend named Mrs. Brown and was considerably surprised to find her copiously weeping the sobbist kind of sad tears. Kiasful entreaty finally elicited the
